Recording in the Rain

The next Annual General Meeting will decide whether to introduce an element of 'Catch & Release' before the time bonus, into the Association Rules.

The problem of how to record fish caught and returned on a soggy piece of paper has been worrying me.

It seems to me that all other difficulties about matches fished with a catch and release element can be easily overcome.

But how do you record fish returned on a day when it blows and rains and EVERYTHING in the boat gets soaking wet? Including inevitably any written record.

Whatever scheme is adopted I suspect that it will be necessary to weigh in by boat. Both anglers will have to attend the weigh in together. Each angler will have to confirm their partners number returned.

At least one solution would be not to have a written record but use plastic tokens. Each angler would have their own eight tokens and every time they return a fish they would hand one to their boat partner

(who would make a serious attempt NOT TO LOOSE THEM).

The person recording the results would only need to be shown the number of tokens held by the boat partner.

No Match Report

Very, very rarely, there is no match report or photos.

From the very beginning of the Association, nearly thirty years ago the match organiser has provided the Association with a Match Report, and for the last few years photos of the winners.

John and I get to over half the matches so we do the report and take the photos.

Here is a list of matches that neither John or I plan to get to. The organisers for these matches will be responsible for the Match Report and Photos.

Most member clubs have put our Match Reports onto their club web sites.

The A.M.F.C. now has its own web site which will inevitably be accessed by a wider public. It seems evident that we should make sure that this web site should present the Association in the best way possible. To have a blank page in any Monthly News Letter does not seem the sort of message that we should be publishing.

Bowl proves difficult with Fish well Spread Out

Local Teams have mixed Success

Boats hurrying back to Get there on time

A hard fought contest on a day that was kind to some and disappointing for many and where possibly the rod average of 4.8 flattered to deceive.

It was actually a difficult day with the trout spread well out in small pods in almost every corner of the reservoir. Great if you found yourself among them but they were so easy to miss.

However, those who bothered to practice definitely had an advantage and found pockets of fish in some of Bewl's more obscure hideaways.

Winning team Soldier Palmer 'A's top rod Sean Hanlon bagged up at around lunchtime in Browns Inlet at the top of Hook Straight. That is a long way from home.

The match started with a brisk North wind and showers which convinced most of the fleet to start in the relative shelter offered by the main dam and drift out from there.

Certainly by 4 pm there were one or two boats back at the jetty, obvious evidence that some got it right.

The match finished as always at 6pm sharp and with the fish weighed the band of brothers, or most of them anyway, retired to the Brown Trout in Lamberhurst for evening dinner.

Soldier Palmers 'A' WINNERS

The main bowl had held a good head of fish of late but they were not that evident on the opening drift and many carried onward to Ferry Point and beyond into Copen's

Late morning saw the rain disappear, the wind drop and conditions became much better for both predator and quarry with rods bending regularly

Home Team come Good - Bewl 'B' Winners

Time Bonus Critical in Win

The day started with a benign south-easterly, a modest cloud cover, and a relatively pleasant temperature. Great for fishing you'd think.

Pre match the shoals mainly holed up in the north shores and bays. One might have predicted they would stay there.

But fish don't see it that way; possibly they'd looked at the diary, and had then mostly decided to be somewhere else, which they were.

The weather was very changeable. There was a ferocious shower late morning for about 30 minutes (according to one report the roads around St Pancras were flooded)

This was followed by watery sunshine and an indeterminate wind until an awful flat calm in the latter part of the day.

Eventually a bit of a south wind moved in, which saw a bevy of boats in the Chingley side of the main bowl trying to pick up a late stockie.

The most productive method appeared to be a couple of blobs, with the optional middle dropper, on a Di3 hauled back at an arm breaking velocity.

The two Bristol anglers did very respectably twiddling nymphs on a floater. With more support from colleagues they would have really figured. Give them credit.

It appeared that every line profile was used apart possibly from Di7/8, although I may stand to be corrected,

Keiran Bonus (Invicta 'A')
BEST FISH

Bewl 'B' Winning Team

This was also mirrored with a very wide variety of flies. This is perhaps what makes the AMFC such a good forum.

Mixed fortunes, not an easy day, but nobody blanked, and the post match meal and camaraderie at the Brown Trout was what makes it.
